Subject: CTDOT Study of Transportation Needs and Nonmedical Transportation Services for People with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities

As part of its Study of Transportation Needs and Nonmedical Transportation Services for People with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (IDD Study), the Connecticut Department of Transportation (CTDOT) is hosting virtual workshops to gather stakeholder input and feedback. You are invited to participate in a workshop to discuss the transportation needs for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

Two virtual workshops will be held. Both workshops will cover the same content and discussion topics, so please choose the session that best fits your schedule. Advanced registration is required, and after registering, you will receive a confirmation email with information and specific details about joining the meeting. Details and registration links are provided below. Please share this workshop information with any colleagues, caregivers, and/or clients who may be interested in contributing to this important study.
